

Michael Levi, "Snow" (1999)

"Snow" is taken from a larger set, Three Songs, set to texts by the poet Laura Gilpin.

Michael Levi retired as Professor of Music at the College of St. Rose in Albany, NY, where he directed the Chamber Choir, taught undergraduate courses in music theory, music history, jazz studies, and supervised student teachers. He has also taught in the Williamsville and Depew Public School Districts near Buffalo, NY. He holds a B.A. in Music Theory from Fredonia State College, and an M.A. in Composition and Ph.D. in Music Education from the University at Buffalo. He has served on the Artistic Faculty and Administrative Staff of the New York State Summer School of the Arts in Choral Studies.